Products & Hosted Services

Xpiori enables the easy use of both structured and unstructured information to be employed in intelligent, innovative and profitable ways. Solutions based on Xpiori are dynamic and enable users with the freedom to leverage their information to build real business intelligence using their information assets to effectively meet their needs.

Available directly or through Channel Partners, Xpiori has developed products and technologies for use by both End Users and Developers. They have been created with the Company's patented core technology and rely upon XMS, the native XML DB and management system. In addition, XPriori offers web-based hosted SaaS services through reseller agreements with leaders in content and audio review and analysis.
